

Dax Outlook 2016 W20

Last week the Dax touched the 9'770 for a third time but rebounded to 9'916 by the end of the week. Movements in the Oil price are still influencing the market. Furthermore a more likely interest rate rise in the US.

The MACD is bearish, the RSI is at 47.90 and the VDAX rose to 22.29.

It would need a rise above 9'970 on Monday to make the situation look more bullish. Then a recovery up to 10'100 would be likely. Below that another test of the support between 9'750-9'770 could occur. The preferred scenario is still upwards but breaking below 9'750 could lead to further losses down to 9'500.

Support: 9'850, 9'750, 9'600, 9'360, 9'214, 9'000, 8'903, 8'500
